PREFACE.

The design of the following Work is to furnish young persons with an easy Guide to Spelling, and to combine utility with neatness.

As an additional help to ascertain the proper pronunciation of particular words, the equivocal sounds of the letters c, s, and g, are carefully distinguished in an easy and compendious method. Thus the learner will observe that the letter c, with this mark annexed to it, always bears a soft sound like the letter s, as in cell, (sell); and if marked thus, c', it is sounded like ts, as in 'shaft (tsaft); s denotes the sound of z, as in wise (wise); g represents the sound of j, as in 'gem (jem); and g has a similar sound.

When such marks are not affixed to these letters, they must be understood to retain their natural and more general sound, as in the words call, house, get. It must be observed likewise, that in words where h is printed in the Italic character, it is not aspirated; and wherever any other letter occurs in that character, its sound is dropped. A circumflex (ˆ) over a vowel denotes a long sound, as in oöl.* Where difficulties of irregularities arise, which cannot be thus easily obviated, the scholar is referred to the bottom of the page for a correct pronunciation. The plan itself is doubtless extremely simple. But when the circumstances of those for whom it is professedly designed are considered, this simplicity itself will probably be esteemed a recommendation.

A Comma, a Semicolon; a Colon: a Period or Full Stop.
 Note of Interrogation? a Note of Admiration!
 An Apostrophe is used to shorten a word; as, I'll, for I will.
 A Brace is used to couple lines together, whether in poetry or prose; as,
 Reason only can our wants restrain,
 The mind support beneath corporeal pain,
 Make life more sweet, and death eternal gain.
 To a Year's Rest from Christmas, 1836.
 To Christmas, 1837.

A Caret is placed where a word is left out in writing; as, mutual
 we in love.

An Ellipsis supplies the place of a letter or letters in a word, when the writer does not choose to write the word at length; as, J—s—T—m—n, James Thomson.

Asterisks, * * * are sometimes used for the same purpose.

An Hyphen is used to part Syllables; as, Ab-ba.

A Parenthesis serves to include a sentence in the body of other; as, This act of cruelty (for such it certainly was) almost the only strain in the character of, &c.

A Quotation signifies the words so marked are transcribed from the writings of another in his own words. The end of a Quotation is marked thus, " and shows that the passage quoted is finished.

Single Accent denotes the stress to be laid upon a particular syllable in a word.

Double Accent serves to mark a short sound in a syllable.

Crotchets include short sentences or references that have connection with the subject treated of.

Asterisk, * Are all used as references to the bottom of the page or margin of a book. Figures, also,

Obelisk, &c. as, 1, 2, 3, &c. are used in like manner, and have, in general, the same signification.

¶ Paragraphs and Sections are not always used like the other marks, references to the margin or bottom of a page. They are chiefly used to mark divisions and separate heads of a discourse. The former character is to be with in many parts of the Old and New Testament; and in Locke's Essay mark § is prefixed to the sections of the discourse.
